How does IVHE work?

Your vacation home is allocated credits based on a possible rental income. Credits are built up by hosting other members. The accumulated credits allow you to travel the world, staying in fantastic locations and amazing properties owned by other IVHE members.

Covering six continents, our website www.ivhe.com provides you with a variety of fabulous homes you can choose to stay in.

Who are IVHE members?

Owners of luxury second/vacation, properties, yachts or boutique hotels as well as activity centres that are maintained and equipped to a high standard in frequently travelled or exotic locations.

Can I use my primary residence with IVHE?

The IVHE system does not work well for primary homes. The main reason is that most primary homes often have very limited availability to other members and will almost certainly need a direct swap to make it work.

How do you gain credits?

You earn credits when another IVHE member stays in your property. The number of credits you earn is determined by your property's potential weekly rental value in US dollars. The simplicity of the system is that 1 credit is given for every 100 US dollars of rental value. So for example, if the weekly rental value of your property is $5,500, then its credit value would be 55 and for each week that a member stays in your property you earn 55 credits.

There are other ways to earn credits to get you started on your travels, including a limited option to purchase them and a 'refer a friend' scheme. For up to date information on the options available, please visit our website at www.ivhe.com.

your travel experiences
are global with IVHE

How do I use my credits?

Every property in IVHE is given a Weekly Credit Value and a Credits Account. To be able to stay in a particular property, you must have at least as many credits in your credits account as the credit value of the property you wish to stay in. If you stay in a 10 credit property, then 10 credits will be deducted from your credit account.

We charge a small arrangement fee from the visiting member based on the credit value of the property for each exchange. Please note, the member hosting does not pay an arrangement fee.

Our user-friendly website www.ivhe.com allows members to register their property, manage their account, update and promote their property and search for new vacation locations.

Why is IVHE different from other home exchange companies?

Unlike conventional vacation house swaps where both properties have to be occupied at the same time, IVHE is different. For example, if you selected a property from the website and it was available in July, you would not need to have your own property occupied at the same time. In other words, the timing of your holiday is not guided by anyone else's schedule, giving you greater flexibility.

With IVHE the world is your playground – Come and play!

What are the benefits of IVHE?

Convert free time in your property into credits – IVHE enables you to convert empty time periods in your property into flexible vacations, maximizing your valuable asset.

Non-simultaneous exchange – The timing of your holiday is not guided by anyone else's schedule. You never have to arrange a simultaneous exchange with another member, which gives you much greater flexibility with your holiday plans.

Variety of options –Your property can be exchanged with any type or size of property using our credit system and everyone benefits. You do not have to exchange on a like-for-like basis giving you greater and more interesting choices.

Location – You can stay at any property within our global online home exchange network. IVHE's non-reciprocal trading gives you the freedom to choose your location without the ties of a direct exchange.

Different seasons – The seasons vary greatly in different parts of the world, particularly in the northern and southern hemispheres. Vacation times are also different. As a global non-reciprocal exchange network IVHE increases suitable availability for your holiday plans.

What do our members say?

Getting credit for having a family stay in our vacation home and then using that to go wherever we want is the most innovative improvement on home exchanging since it was invented! Now the possibilities are endless. Thanks IVHE!
